

Technical Seminar on

Introduction to the Intumescent Coatings for Fire Protection for Steel Structures

by Gary Bennett

Organized by
Young Members Group, The Hong Kong Institute of Steel Construction

Supported by Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering, The Hong Kong Polytechnic University

Date:	5 th January 2017 (Thursday)
Time:	6:20 pm (registration) for 6:30 pm to 8:00 pm
Venue:	Room Y305, The Hong Kong Polytechnic University, Hung Hom, Kowloon

About the Seminar

The seminar will discuss why fire protection is required, how fire protection works, and the differences between active and passive systems. The key focus will be in offering insight into intumescent coating: how they work, general chemistry, classification of fires, and product differences. The seminar will also touch on R&D testing, 3rd Party testing / certification, and fire engineering.

Fire protection is an integral component during the construction of all commercial properties – from office buildings to airports to MRT stations. Passive fire protection is designed to try and contain the spread of fire, extend the time available for evacuation, and extend the structural integrity of the structure.
